Under Nasdaq’s Board Diversity Rule, all operating companies listed on Nasdaq’s U.S. exchange would be required to publicly disclose diversity statistics regarding their board of directors using the Board Diversity Matrix template found here, or a format substantially similar.

Examples of acceptable and unacceptable disclosures are provided below. For your convenience, we have also included examples of disclosures included by Nasdaq-listed companies in their 2022 proxy statements and a few situational examples to help illustrate certain scenarios.

With respect to timing, companies must disclose the initial matrix as detailed in the table below.

Nasdaq Global Select or Global Markets	August 8, 2022 or the date the company files its 2022 proxy, whichever is later	One year from the date of listing

SITUATIONAL EXAMPLES

Situation 1: A director who self-identifies as a female, African American and LGBTQ+ can be included in multiple categories in the matrix. However, for the purpose of meeting the diverse director objective, a company cannot count the same director in more than one category.

Situation 2: A director who self-identifies as female, but declines to answer as to demographic background (e.g., race or LGBTQ).

LGBTQ+
Did not Disclose Demographic Background			1

Situation 3: A male director who does not identify as one of the race/ethnicity categories that is listed in the Nasdaq definition. The company can choose to provide this disclosure as supplemental information below the matrix. This director would not count toward the diverse director objective.

Directors who identify as Australian Aboriginal: 1

Situation 4: A company with two female directors where Director A identifies as Black and Hispanic and Director B identifies as White. When completing the table for Director A, the company must make an entry in each individual demographic category (in this case, Black and Hispanic) and make an entry in the “Two or More Races or Ethnicities” category. This company would satisfy the two diverse director objective.
