

In May 2012, Nasdaq retired its Regulatory Requirements and Listing Standards & Fees guides. In their place, we introduced two new guides, designed to provide companies and their advisors with a practical guide to being listed on Nasdaq, including important information about listing standards, disclosure and notification requirements and fees. Please take a few minutes to read through these documents and save the new links to your favorites for future reference:

Initial Listing Guide

Continued Listing Guide