

recent developments in Delaware law are designed to help provide additional clarity to stockholders wishing to bring business before a stockholder meeting or propose a Stockholder Nominee. The Exchange believes that this filing furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) by simplifying the requirements and clarifying the information that must be disclosed by stockholders. This furthers the interests of investors and the public by removing potential impediments to raising business or proposing Stockholder Nominees that may otherwise restrict a stockholder's ability to participate in the corporate governance of the Corporation.

Finally, the remaining changes to existing provisions of the CGM Bylaws are clarifying in nature, and they enhance investor protection and the public interest by preventing confusion with respect to the operation of the Bylaw provisions.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Because the proposed rule change relates to the governance of the Corporation and not to the operations of the Exchange, the Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed rule change is not designed to address any competitive issue or have any impact on competition; rather, adoption of a stockholder special meeting provision, updating "advance notice bylaws," and other bylaws updates by the Corporation are intended to enhance corporate governance and accountability to stockholders.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

The Exchange neither solicited nor received comments on the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 45 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period up to 90 days (i) as the Commission may designate if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the Exchange consents, the Commission will:

A. by order approve or disapprove such proposed rule change, or

B. institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act. Comments may be submitted by any of the following methods:

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-101411; File No. SR-BX-2024-041]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Nasdaq BX, Inc.; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To Allow Unlimited External Distribution of Derived Data From BX Options Trade Outline

October 23, 2024.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"),¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² notice is hereby given that on October 9, 2024, Nasdaq BX, Inc. ("BX" or "Exchange") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") a proposed rule change as described in Items I, II, and III below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The Exchange proposes to amend the Exchange's fees to allow unlimited external distribution of Derived Data from BX Options Trade Outline.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The purpose of the proposed rule change is to allow unlimited external distribution of Derived Data from BX Options Trade Outline for a monthly fee of $3,000.³

BX Options Trade Outline

BX Options Trade Outline provides aggregate quantity and volume information for trades on the Exchange for all series⁴ during a trading session.⁵ Information is provided on an End of Day, Intra-Day, and historical basis in the following categories: (i) total exchange volume for Intra-Day information and total exchange and industry volume for End of Day information for each reported series; (ii) open interest for the series; (iii) aggregate quantity of trades and aggregate trade volume effected to open a position,⁶ characterized by origin type (Customers,⁷ Broker-Dealers,⁸ BX Options Market Makers,⁹ Firms,¹⁰ and

⁴ Every options series trades as a distinct symbol; the terms "series" and "symbol" are therefore synonyms.

⁵ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 100792 (August 21, 2024), 89 FR 68676 (August 27, 2024) (SR-BX-2024-028).

⁶ This would include the aggregate number of "opening purchase transactions," defined as a BX Options Transaction that creates or increases a long position in an options contract, see Options 1, Section 1(a)(35), and the aggregate number of "opening writing transactions," defined as a BX Options Transaction that creates or increases a short position in an options contract. See Options 1, Section 1(a)(36).

⁸ The term "Broker-Dealer" applies to any transaction which is not subject to any of the other transaction fees applicable within a particular category. See Options 7, Section 1(a).

⁹ The term "BX Options Market Maker" is a Participant that has registered as a Market Maker on BX Options pursuant to Options 2, Section 1, and must also remain in good standing pursuant to Options 2, Section 9. In order to receive Market Maker pricing in all securities, the Participant must be registered as a BX Options Market Maker in at least one security. See Options 7, Section 1(a).

¹⁰ The term "Firm" applies to any transaction that is identified by a Participant for clearing in the Firm range at OCC. See Options 7, Section 1(a).

Professionals¹¹); and (iv) aggregate quantity of trades and aggregate trade volume effected to close a position,¹² characterized by origin type (Customers, Broker-Dealers, BX Options Market Makers, Firms, and Professionals).¹³

End of Day Information

The BX Trade Outline End of Day file provides opening buy, closing buy, opening sell and closing sell information, including option first trade price, option high trade price, option low trade price, and option last trade price. The End of Day file is updated during an overnight process with additional fields¹⁴ and is available the following morning, providing aggregate data for the entire trading session.

Intra-Day Information

Intra-Day information is released in scheduled "snapshots" available every 10 minutes for all options series over the course of the trading day. These snapshots are updated to reflect whatever activity occurred, or to indicate that no activity occurred.¹⁵

Historical Information

Historical data is available through ad hoc requests for information in both End of Day and Intra-Day formats for all option series traded for every calendar month after December 2014, based on specific request.¹⁶

¹¹ The term "Professional" means any person or entity that (i) is not a broker or dealer in securities, and (ii) places more than 390 orders in listed options per day on average during a calendar month for its own beneficial account(s) pursuant to Options 1, Section 1(a)(48). All Professional orders shall be appropriately marked by Participants. See Options 7, Section 1(a).

¹² This would include the aggregate number of "closing purchase transactions" in the affected series, defined as a BX Options Transaction that reduces or eliminates a short position in an options contract, see Options 1, Section 1(a)(19), and the aggregate number of "closing writing transactions," defined as a BX Options Transaction that reduces or eliminates a long position in an options contract. See Options 1, Section 1(a)(20).

¹³ These are the same types of information available on PHOTO, and the other trade outline products offered by Nasdaq exchanges.

¹⁴ The additional fields are: First Trade Price, High Trade Price, Low Trade Price, Last Trade Price, Underlying Close, Moneyness, Total Exchange volume, Total Industry Volume for the Series, and Open Interest.

¹⁵ Subscribers will receive the first snapshot at 9:42 a.m. ET, representing data captured from 9:30 a.m. to 9:40 a.m., and the second calculation at 9:52 a.m., representing data from both the most recent snapshot and previous snapshots, and continuing over the course of the trading day. The final Intra-Day snapshot will be distributed at 4:15 p.m.

¹⁶ Market participants generally use historical files for model testing and research, and the period of time required by a particular market participant will depend on its unique testing and research needs as well as whether it is using End of Day or Intra-Day information. Some customers, for example, may request years of data, while others

BX Options Trade Outline includes proprietary Exchange trading data and does not disseminate any intra-day trading data from any other exchange.¹⁷

The information provided, both in End of Day and Intra-Day formats, is not a real-time data feed.

BX Options Trade Outline is a completely voluntary product in that the Exchange is not required by any rule or regulation to make this data available and potential subscribers may purchase it only if they voluntarily choose to do so.

Nasdaq's experience is that investment banks, market makers, asset managers and other buy-side investors purchase trade outline products.

Proposed Fees

The Exchange proposes to allow unlimited external distribution of Derived Data from BX Options Trade Outline for a monthly fee of $3,000. This will encourage Distributors to create and sell analytic products to the general investing public. External distribution of Derived Data is not currently permitted. The same Derived Data license is also offered by the Nasdaq PHLX, LLC ("Phlx"),¹⁸ Nasdaq ISE, LLC ("ISE"),¹⁹ and Nasdaq GEMX, LLC ("GEMX")²⁰ exchanges and the Nasdaq Stock Market LLC ("Nasdaq Options Market" or "NOM").²¹ A Derived Data license is also being proposed for the MRX exchange concurrently with this proposal.

Derived Data is "any information generated in whole or in part from Exchange Information²² such that the information generated cannot be reverse engineered to recreate Exchange Information, or be used to create other data that is recognizable as a reasonable substitute for such Exchange Information."

only months, or even a single month. The same principle applies to End of Day vs. Intra-Day information.

¹⁷ The End of Day report includes a field that presents Total Industry Volume for the Series.

¹⁸ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 93293 (October 12, 2021), 86 FR 57716 (October 18, 2021) (SR-Phlx-2021-58).

¹⁹ See ISE Options 7, Section 10(A).

²⁰ See GEMX Options 7, Section 7(D).

²¹ See Nasdaq Options 7, Section 4.

²² "Exchange Information" is any data or information that has been collected, validated, processed and/or recorded by the Exchange and made available for transmission relating to: (i) eligible securities or other financial instruments, markets, products, vehicles, indicators, or devices; (ii) activities of the Exchange; or (iii) other information or data from the Exchange. Information includes, but is not limited to, any element of information used or processed in such a way that Exchange Information or a substitute for such Information can be identified, recalculated or re-engineered from the processed information.

Fees for external distribution of Derived Data from BX Options Trade Outline are in addition to fees for the End of Day product or the Intraday product, or both, as applicable.

The proposal is designed to promote the dissemination of a variety of analytical insights—generally used only by investment banks, market makers, asset managers and other buy-side investors—to the general investing public by creating an incentive for market data vendors to identify, develop, and sell sentiment indicators and other products. The proposal will spur competition among not only exchanges, but vendors as well, thereby promoting innovation and improving the dissemination of information to the general investing public.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,²³ in general, and furthers the objectives of Sections 6(b)(4) and 6(b)(5) of the Act,²⁴ in particular, in that it provides for the equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees and other charges among members and issuers and other persons using any facility, and is not designed to permit unfair discrimination between customers, issuers, brokers, or dealers.

Equitable Allocation of Reasonable Dues, Fees and Other Charges

The proposed changes are an equitable allocation of reasonable dues, fees and other charges because: (i) the trade profile products offered by multiple exchanges are substitutes, and customers are free to choose which product they purchase; and (ii) the proposed fees are comparable to the fees charged by other exchanges, and customers are free to purchase other products if the Exchange has mistaken the value of its product.

Substitution

Products similar to Trade Outline are offered by many exchanges, including Nasdaq affiliates such as Phlx,²⁵ ISE,²⁶ GEMX,²⁷ and NOM,²⁸ and options markets not affiliated with Nasdaq such as Cboe Options Exchange (“Cboe”),²⁹ NYSE American Options (“NYSE American”),³⁰ NYSE Arca Options (“NYSE Arca”),³¹ BOX Options Market LLC (“BOX”),³² and MIAAX Pearl Options Exchange (“Pearl”).³³

All of the trade outline products offered by the Nasdaq-affiliated exchanges include a license for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data.³⁴ As noted above, MRX will be proposing the same license together with this proposal. All of these Derived Data licenses are direct substitutes.

The underlying trade outline data provided by one exchange is generally similar to that provided by other exchanges because order flow can move from one exchange to another, and market sentiment trends that appear on one exchange are likely to be similar to the sentiment trends on other exchanges. The key differentiator among trade outline products depends on the volume of transactions on a given exchange; the greater the volume of transactions, the greater the value of the data. Customers generally purchase sufficient data to provide a view of the market, but not more, as the value of data from each additional exchange yields diminishing returns. Because customers can substitute trade outline products among exchanges, customers can also substitute the proposed Derived Data license for BX with the Derived Data licenses of any of its affiliates.

The proposed Derived Data license is also subject to potential competition from exchanges not affiliated with Nasdaq. Although the Exchange is not aware of any exchanges offering a Derived Data license for trade outline other than its own affiliates, any exchange that wishes to allow distribution of a Derived Data product based on options trading information would be able to do so with an immediately effective fee filing similar to this proposal.

All trade outline products are optional. Customers can, and do, choose to forego the information from Trade Outline or any of its competitor products when making a trade, and the same holds for Derived Data from trade outline products.

As the Commission and courts³⁵ have recognized, “[i]f competitive forces are operative, the self-interest of the exchanges themselves will work powerfully to constrain unreasonable or unfair behavior.”³⁶ Accordingly, “the existence of significant competition provides a substantial basis for finding that the terms of an exchange’s fee proposal are equitable, fair, reasonable, and not unreasonably or unfairly discriminatory.”³⁷ The Commission and the courts have repeatedly expressed their preference for competition over regulatory intervention in determining prices, products, and services in the securities markets. In Regulation NMS, while adopting a series of steps to improve the current market model, the Commission highlighted the importance of market forces in determining prices and SRO revenues, and also recognized that current regulation of the market system “has been remarkably successful in promoting market competition in its broader forms that are most important to investors and listed companies.”³⁸

Because the proposed Derived Data license is currently subject to competition from other Nasdaq exchanges, and potentially subject to competition from other exchanges, the Exchange will be limited in what it is able to charge for the license, and the proposed fee is therefore a reasonable allocation of dues, fees and other charges.

Comparability

The proposed fees for the Derived Data license are comparable to the fees charged by similarly situated exchanges for the same license.

All of the Nasdaq-affiliated exchanges offer a Derived Data license for their trade outline products. As explained above, the value of any trade outline product is determined in part by the number of underlying transactions reflected in the data.

The proposed fees for the Derived Data license are the same as the fees charged by similarly situated exchanges. BX has a market share of approximately 2 percent, similar to that of GEMX (at approximately 3 percent).³⁹ The proposed monthly fee of $3,000 for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data is identical to the fee charged by GEMX.⁴⁰

The volume of trading on the BX exchange is also similar to that on the MRX exchange, which has a market share of approximately 4 percent.⁴¹ Together with this filing, MRX will propose the same monthly fee of $3,000 as BX for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data.

The Nasdaq-affiliated exchanges with larger market shares have comparably higher fees for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data. Nasdaq Options Market, with a market share of approximately 5 percent,⁴² has a fee of $4,000 per month for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data.⁴³ ISE, with a market share of approximately 7 percent,⁴⁴ has a fee of $4,500 per month for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data.⁴⁵ PHLX, with a market share of approximately 9 percent,⁴⁶ has a fee of $5,000 per month for the unlimited external distribution of Derived Data.⁴⁷

The proposed fees are therefore comparable to those charged by similarly situated exchanges and consistent with the fees for Derived Data licenses in the market overall. If the Exchange is wrong in its assessment of fees, it will lose sales as a result.

The Proposal Does Not Permit Unfair Discrimination

The proposed Derived Data license is available to all market participants, including members and non-members, and all current and potential distributors, on the same terms. Nothing in the proposal treats any category of market participant any differently from any other category.

It is reasonable and not unfair discrimination to charge an external distributor of Derived Data a $3,000 licensing fee that is not charged for internal usage. External distribution is fundamentally different than internal use. Vendors ordinarily charge a fee to their downstream customers for this service, and, even if the vendor is not charging a specific fee for this particular service, Derived Data products from the Exchange will be part of a suite of offerings that generally promote sales. It is not unfair discrimination to charge a licensing fee for a product that generates downstream revenue.

It is also not unfair discrimination to allow the redistribution of Derived Data, but not the underlying information. Neither exchanges nor vendors ordinarily allow redistribution of analytic products—such products are typically designed solely for the use of direct customers, not for redistribution to the customers of customers in the manner of a data feed.

The proposed licensing structure provides an incentive for vendors to innovate with new compelling and varied analytic products for the general investing public that will provide access to market sentiment insights currently available only to sophisticated investors.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. In terms of inter-market competition, the Exchange notes that it operates in a highly competitive market in which market participants can readily favor competing venues if they deem fee levels at a particular venue to be excessive, or rebate opportunities available at other venues to be more favorable. In such an environment, the Exchange must continually adjust its fees to remain competitive with other exchanges and with alternative trading systems that have been exempted from compliance with the statutory standards applicable to exchanges. Because competitors are free to modify their own fees in response, and because market participants may readily adjust their order routing practices, the Exchange believes that the degree to which fee changes in this market may impose any burden on competition is extremely limited.

Intermarket Competition

Nothing in the proposal burdens inter-market competition (the competition among self-regulatory organizations). As discussed above, BX Trade Outline is subject to direct competition from other options exchanges that offer similar products. Any of these exchanges can replicate this proposal in full or in part, and nothing in the proposal would interfere with the ability of any exchange to do so.

Intra-Market Competition

Nothing in the proposal burdens intra-market competition (the competition among consumers of exchange data). Trade Outline is available to any customer under the same fee schedule as any other customer, and any market participant that wishes to purchase a license to distribute Derived Data can do so on a non-discriminatory basis.

Indeed, the proposal is designed to foster competition for vendors as well as exchanges by creating an incentive for market data vendors to identify, develop, and sell analytic indicators to help investors inform their investments strategies and analytic models.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

⁴ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 97658 (June 7, 2023), 88 FR 38562 (June 13, 2023) (SR-Phlx-2023-22) (Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change To Amend Various Options 8 Rules). SR-Phlx-2023-22 amended FLEX Orders in 3 ways. First, the Exchange amended the rules to require FLEX Orders to be reported into Phlx's Options Floor Based Management System or "FBMS," thereby further automating the execution and reporting of FLEX Options. All executed FLEX contracts will be reported to OPRA and sent to the OCC for clearing, similar to all other equity, equity index and U.S. dollar-settled foreign currency options orders executed on the Exchange's trading floor. Second, the Exchange removed its RFQ process including the BBO Improvement Interval Process, with the rule change. Third, the Exchange reorganized Options 8, Section 34 to restructure the rule to include additional information which describes current FLEX trading on Phlx. With respect to Cabinet Orders, SR-Phlx-2023-22 amended Options 8, Section 33 to require Cabinet Orders to be reported into FBMS. With this change, members and member organizations will be required to record all Cabinet Orders represented in the trading crowd into FBMS. All executed contracts will be reported to OPRA and sent to OCC for clearing similar to all other equity, equity index and U.S. dollar-settled foreign currency options orders executed on the Exchange's trading floor.
