investors and the public interest, the proposed rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act\(^1\) and Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii) thereunder.\(^2\)

A proposed rule change filed under Rule 19b–4(f)(6) normally does not become operative for 30 days after the date of filing. However, pursuant to Rule 19b–4(f)(6)(iii) the Commission may designate a shorter time if such action is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest. FINRA has asked the Commission to waive the 30-day operative delay so that the proposal may become operative immediately upon filing.

The Commission believes that waiving the 30-day operative delay is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest, as it will allow the pilot program to continue uninterrupted, thereby avoiding the investor confusion that could result from a temporary interruption in the pilot program. For this reason, the Commission designates the proposed rule change as operative upon filing.\(^3\)

At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

request. In connection with such a request for an expedited response, the Company must submit to Nasdaq a non-refundable fee of $15,000.

(c)-(f) No change.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Nasdaq rules allow a company to request from Nasdaq a written interpretation of the application of the Nasdaq listing rules, contained in the Rule 5000 through 5990 Series. Nasdaq proposes to modify the fee in connection with such a request. Today, a company is required to submit a nonrefundable fee of $15,000,4 and Nasdaq generally provides a response to the request within four weeks from the date Nasdaq receives all information necessary to respond to the request, although if a company requires a response by a specific date, Nasdaq will attempt to respond by that date.5

Previously, Nasdaq rules provided for two tiers of fees for a written interpretation of the Nasdaq listing rules, depending on the urgency of the request. Nasdaq eliminated that two-tier structure because few companies took advantage of the lower fee alternative.6 However, Nasdaq has received feedback from listed companies and their counsel that the option to submit a non-expedited request for a lower fee is an important alternative. Accordingly, Nasdaq proposes to revert to the prior version of the rules,7 under which a company could submit a non-refundable fee of $5,000 for a regular request, to which Nasdaq generally will provide a response within four weeks from the date Nasdaq receives all information necessary to respond to the request. As under the current rule, a company may, alternatively, submit a non-refundable fee of $15,000 for an expedited request, in which the company requests a response by a specific date that is less than four weeks, but at least one week, after the date Nasdaq receives all necessary information.

Under the proposal, companies would have the option to choose an expedited or non-expedited track for their request, and no company will pay a higher fee for a written interpretation of the Nasdaq listing rules than is currently charged. Nasdaq will continue to endeavor to respond to all requests as quickly as possible, while making appropriate decisions as to the application of the Nasdaq rules. Nasdaq also will continue not to charge companies for oral guidance on the Nasdaq rules.8

Finally, the proposed rule change will not affect Nasdaq’s commitment of resources to its regulatory oversight of the listing process or its other regulatory programs, and the proposed change is not expected to meaningfully impact Nasdaq’s revenue from its listing program.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6 of the Act,9 in general, and with Sections 6(b)(4) and (b)(5) of the Act,10 in particular. The proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b)(4) in that it provides for the equitable allocation of reasonable fees, dues, and other charges among members and issuers and other persons using any facility or system which Nasdaq operates or controls. Under the proposed rule change, issuers that do not need an expedited request could pay a lower fee. Nasdaq believes that the availability of a lower priced alternative for non-expedited interpretation requests is an equitable allocation of Nasdaq’s fees. The proposed rule change also is consistent with Section 6(b)(5) in that it does not unfairly discriminate between issuers in that issuers that do not need an expedited interpretation will have the lower-priced alternative available to them.

5 See Nasdaq Listing Rule 5602(b).

8 The Commission notes that Nasdaq informed Commission staff in connection with a previous rule proposal that Nasdaq does not charge companies for oral interpretation requests of their rules. See supra note 6, 75 FR at 11959 n. 17.
10 15 U.S.C. 78b(b)(4) and (b)(5).

B. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, as amended.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The foregoing rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Act11 and subparagraph (f)(2) of Rule 19b–4 thereunder.12 At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.
